SCRT Mission Statement

The Society of Cleaning and Restoration Technicians is a nonprofit international trade association for companies of all sizes and sectors in the inspection, cleaning, restoration, and related industries. SCRT's mission is to be the leading worldwide resource that provides members with up-to-date technical, management, and marketing information. SCRT will help companies be successful in ways that demonstrate respect for ethical values, industry co-workers, allied vendors, consumers, communities, and the environment.

Code of Ethics

- ▶ Maintain the highest professional standards of workmanship and service;
- ▶ Conduct business affairs with honesty and integrity, never resorting to unfair trade practices that might adversely affect the image of the association or industry;
- ▶ Avoid misrepresentation of products and services, false promises, misleading advertising, or any other promotion that might lead to customer misconception;
- ▶ Share knowledge and experience with the objective of upgrading the industry;
- ▶ Promote a professional image, offering honest, dependable, competent service.

Why Join SCRT?

We could appeal to your sense of industry responsibility, or we could tell you about the camaraderie and genuine friendships that arise from membership in the SCRT. But what probably interests you most is:

“What can membership in the SCRT do for me and my business?”

The answer is that SCRT membership helps you every day in meeting the challenges you face as the owner of a cleaning or restoration business.
